No Barriers Here!

Arlington's Barrier-Free Playground

at Randol Mill Park

A playground where children of all abilities can have a Naturally Fun experience.

Dance Chimes

Arlington is getting its first Barrier-Free Playground at Randol Mill Park. This new facility will be designed to allow children with disabilities full and easy access to the playground and play equipment. The new playground will appeal to all children, regardless of abilities.

Barrier-free designs encourage children with special needs to play on equipment with their peers and builds social skills at the same time. These playgrounds are about making new friends, building self-esteem and being treated just like other kids.

In order to develop our Barrier-Free Playground, Arlington Parks and Recreation will need the support of generous donors like you. Working together we can build a quality playground that will benefit kids of all abilities for years to come!

The Parks and Recreation Department plans to develop a quality facility within a limited budget, and is seeking additional funding to purchase play equipment that will enhance the experience for all children who visit the playground. A gift from you will help purchase unique play elements that offer sensory experiences and help develop children's motor skills. These high quality, interactive equipment pieces would be unique to the North Texas area. They provide a play experience different from standard playground equipment. Please help us fully develop this wonderful opportunity for Arlington's children by donating to the Barrier-Free Playground project today!

Interactive pieces of equipment allow children the sensory experiences of touch, sound and sight. With the equipment children are encouraged to interact by spinning stones, rotating tubes that create sounds and striking chimes to make music.

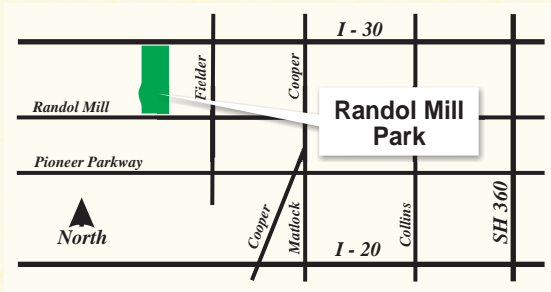

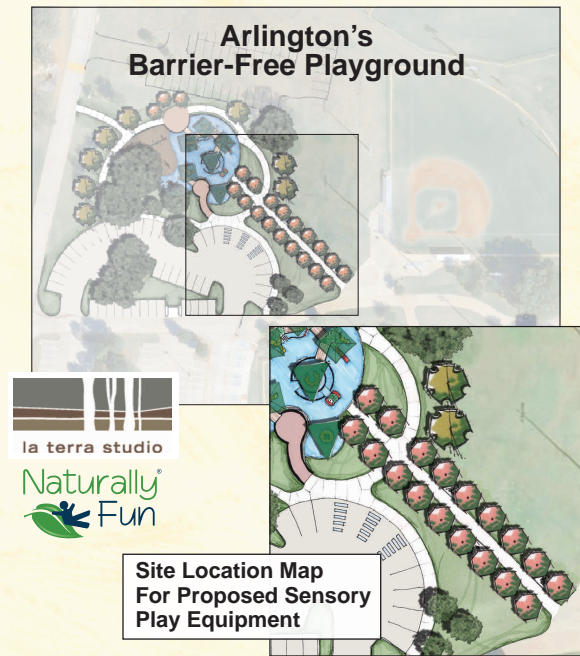

Floating Rocks

Water Whirl

Our hope is to have several of these play equipment pieces purchased and in place for the grand opening of the playground. Your generous contribution can make this possible!

Our new playground will be ideally sited adjacent to Arlington's Doug Inman Miracle League Field baseball facility.

The Miracle League Association is a national organization that serves children between the ages of three and nineteen who suffer from physical or mental disabilities that can cause them to be excluded from youth baseball leagues. In the league, barriers that keep mentally and physically disabled children off the baseball field are removed so they can experience the joy of America's favorite pastime.

Stone Abacus

Donors to the Barrier-Free Playground will have the opportunity to offer support at several levels.

- Titanium - $5,000 and up
- Platinum - $2,500 - $4,999
- Gold - $1,000 - $2,499
- Silver - $500 - $999
- Bronze - $150 - $499
- Copper - $149 and under

For those donors able to contribute enough funding to purchase a single piece of unique play equipment ($4,000 and up), the Parks and Recreation Department will recognize them with a custom made aluminum plaque inset in concrete at the base of the play equipment.

All donors at the Titanium through Silver levels will be recognized on a custom made plaque to be located near the entrance of the playground. Bronze level donors will be recognized with an engraved brick in the playground's courtyard and Copper level donors will receive a certificate of appreciation.

Any amount you can give is greatly appreciated and will go directly to the purchase and installation of barrier-free equipment for our playground.
